Ch.2n -

Cover rococo - Backgrounds irrelevant. Use of staff should be subordinate to those of faculty - Senior pages crowded, photographs not broken by too many lines. Senior write-ups lack originality, seem to follow a formula (too much emphasis on personal eulogy) Art work capably executed, excellent color combinations. Well balanced page. Interesting feature department that shows praiseworthy originality; might have more literary features. In general, a notable improvement over prior volumes.

PATRICK HENRY

A man who did more to crystallize public opinion than anyone of his time.

Having completed a book of our school life, as is the custom, we, the Class of '29, present the eleventh link of THE CHAIN to the students of Lane High School.

Into this book all the most interesting events of the year 1928-'29 have been placed.

May this link to the chain of golden memories serve to bind you to the past, and recall the joys of days that are gone.

JAMES MADISON

Guided our nation during the trying years 1815-1819.

To those famous men of Virginia, whose great and noble lives were devoted to the service of their fellow-men, this, the eleventh link of THE CHAIN, is appreciatively dedicated.

The inspiration of their ideals is so great that it has implanted in our souls a desire to carry on.

Margaret Esther Baptist

Member of Girls' Reserve, '28-29; Vice-President, Metcalf Literary Society, '28-'29; Essay Editor, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29; Organization Editor, "Midway Student," '28-'29.

Margaret has a quiet and dignified manner which one cannot help admiring. She is always kind and unselfish. Not only that, but she is gifted with intelligence and natural beauty. When our days at Lane High are left behind, we shall always remember her as a lovable character. We have never asked Margaret to do anything that she has not consented to do willingly.

Viola Mildred Barfield

Viola is one of those quiet girls who thinks a lot and says little. If you want something done, she is always ready to help you. Although quiet and unobtrusive, Viola works her way into the hearts of her classmates and stays in their memories for years to come. We wonder what is in store for you, Viola?

MARY ELIZABETH BAUM

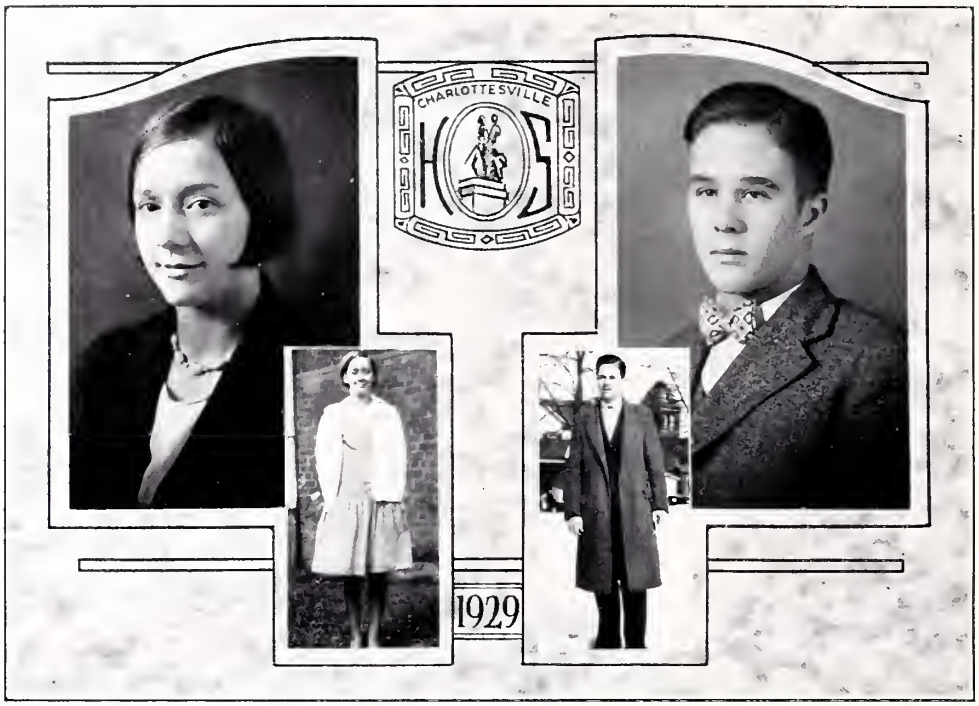
Member, Girls' Reserve, '27-'28-'29

Elizabeth always has a cheerful smile for everyone. She has a good disposition and is a pleasure to her teachers. Of all her subjects, Math. is her favorite. She writes delightful stories of animals, but especially likes horses. This is probably because she is an expert rider. We wish Elizabeth much luck and success in life. She surely deserves it, for she comes fifteen miles to school and very seldom misses a day.

ANNIE BEARD

Member, Hayes Literary Society, '27-'28; Secretary Hayes Literary Society, '28-'29; Exchange Editor, "Midway Student," '28-29.

Annie is an excellent student and willing worker. She is kind, generous and always ready to help anyone who asks her. Typing is Annie's specialty, and she will most probably commercialize it in later years. She is a prominent member of Hayes Literary Society; also of the "Midway Student" Staff. Here's to Annie's success in her future life.



Ada Bonavita

Member, Girls' Reserve, '26-'27-'28-'29; Treasurer, Girls' Reserve '28-'29; Basket-Ball Letters, '26-'27-'28-'29; Poetry Editor, "Midway Student," '28.

"Bonnie," as she is known to her friends, is a girl with a charm you can't resist. If you are ever in a tight place and can't think of anything to do, she is right there with some suggestion. That might be dumb, but you always do it and enjoy it. "Bonnie's" friendliness makes her one of our most popular students. When you are blue just go find "Bonnie," for her giggles and good-naturedness will cheer you up.

Edwin Edmunds Bouldin

Member, Senior Hi-Y, 1929

Edwin, better known as "Preacher," the yodeling man, dropped into our midst this year. Being new, he didn't know our customs, but he soon adapted himself to them, and became a favorite with boys as well as girls.

We all like him. He is jolly and full of fun.

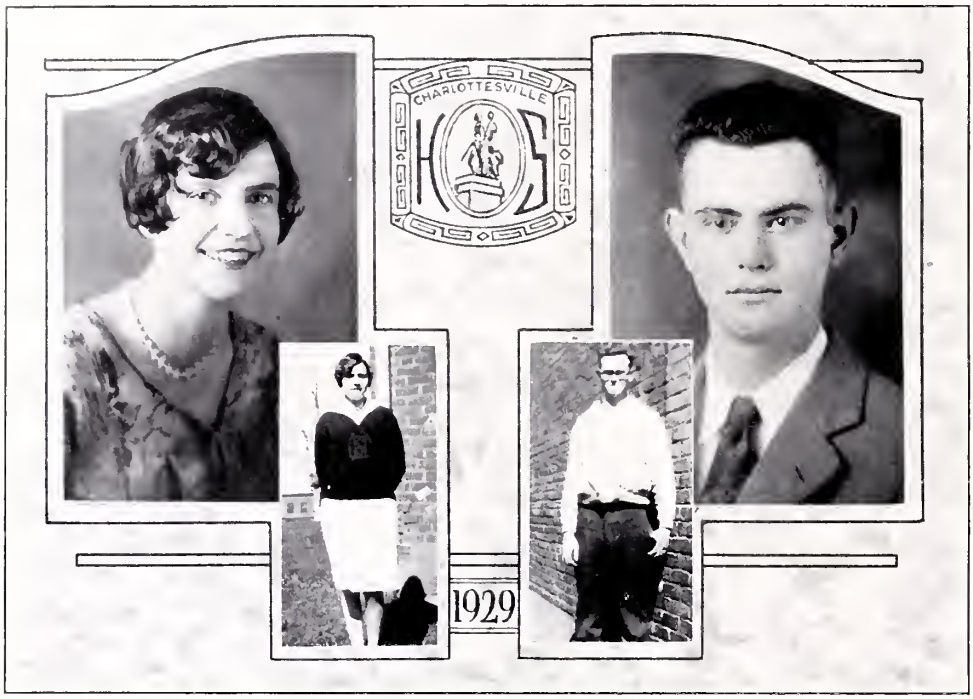
ANDREW BRECHIN

Member, Senior Hi-Y, '27-'28, '28-'29; Assistant Manager Basket-Ball, '28; Manager Basket-ball, '29; Assistant Manager Football, '29; Assistant Manager Stand, '29.

We are glad to have "Sis" with us again this year. He attended Fishburne for awhile, and everyone missed his infectious voice. "Sis" has unsuspected powers as a great speaker; however, he has used this remarkable voice to enthuse his fellow students in "pep" assemblies. Without his great business ability Miss Buford and Mr. Riedel would have been at a loss.

BETTY BURGESS

Betty is a charming one who has joined us this year from the North. Her quiet, attractive ways, her quick smile, have won for her many friends and her cleverness and originality have made her quite popular with her teachers. She is also the possessor of a remarkable voice, unusual dramatic talent and she writes such things as one seldom finds or expects from a high school student. It has been a pleasure to have you with us, Betty, and we wish you all prosperity and happiness.



Ree Campbell

Member, Players' Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; Secretary Hayes Literary Society, '27-'28; Member, 4 years; Advisory Board, '28-'29; Girls' Basket-Ball Letter '27-'28-'29; Freshman Editor "Bumble Bee," '26; Editor-in-Chief, "Midway Student," '29; Girls' Athletic Editor "Chain," '29; Honor Committee, '26, '28; Captain of Freshman and Junior Teams.

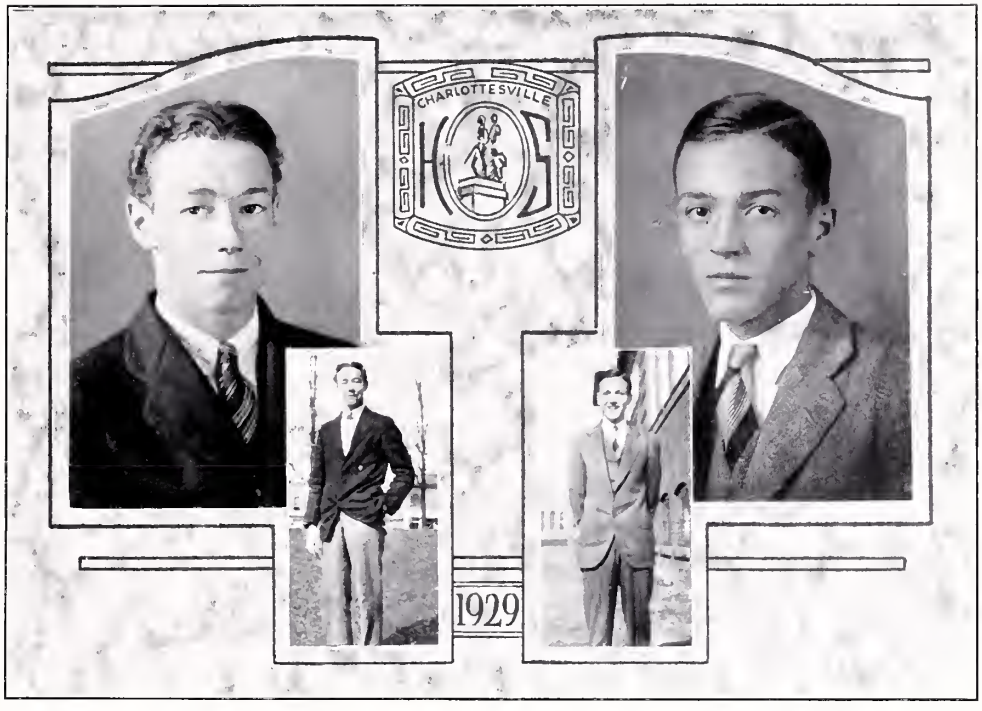
Ree possesses that characteristic which only few have—that of a leader. During the four years that Ree has been in high school she has always proven herself dependable, capable, and efficient.

Probably Ree's most predominant characteristic is her good sportsmanship. She has always taken a leading part in basket-ball, and is also a backer of all other sports. We are expecting still greater things of Ree as she leaves Lane High, and we all wish her the best of luck.

Landon Carter

Landon is one of our "heirlooms," left us by the Class of '28. We really think he ought to be a lawyer, he can argue around almost any point.

Landon is an excellent business man. His seriousness of purpose will make a great career for him some day.



ALBIN CLAYTON COLEMAN

Member, Senior Hi-Y, '27-'28, '28-'29.

Clayton has characteristics all his own. Any member of the class knows Clayton by his laugh and his walk (and his little red tie!).

He is willing to offer criticism of existing conditions, but is just as ready to give credit when credit is due. He is always ready to participate in some fun and greets everyone with a witty remark.

ROBERT H. DANIEL

Secretary Freshman Class; President Senior Class; Players' Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Hi-Y, '27-'28, '28-'29; Vice-President Hayes Literary Society, '28-'29; Member, 4 years; Reporter, "Midway Student," '27-'28; Photo Editor "Chain," '28-'29, '27-'28; Honor Committee, '27-'28; Business Manager, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29; Assistant Manager, "Bumble Bee," '27-'28; Basket-Ball Squad, '29.

Bobby is one of our most capable Seniors. When he was elected president of the class, everyone agreed that a better selection could not be made. His ability to do things and do them right is recognized by all. His personality coupled with his business ability will bring him much success in the future.

Elsie Mae Dollins

Member, Girls' Glee Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Secretary, English Club, '25; President English Club, '26: Typist, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29.

It may have been said about Elsie that she has an inferiority complex, but it isn't that after all. She is simply quiet—but with this quietness comes the rare calm dignity and sweetness of disposition. We never see Elsie rushing around like a mad-man; she always knows just exactly what she is going to do before she starts. Thus we conclude that Elsie is a very efficient young lady.

Lucy Dawson

Typist for "Midway Student," '27; Typist of "Chit Chat," 1927.

Lucy is one of our girls who works steadily, and never goes around grumbling and proclaiming about it; nor does she rush to and fro broadcasting her high school spirit, but it's there just the same! We are quite sure that this spirit will carry you on, Lucy, in your future undertakings. That the world may be kind to Lucy is our sincere wish.

Ann Cleveland Doner

Secretary Senior Class; Vice-President Players' Club, '28-'29; Players' Club, '25 to '29; Girls' Glee Club, '25 to '29; Secretary Glee Club, '26-'27; Vice-President Glee Club, '27-'28; President Glee Club, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '26 to '29; President Metcalf Literary Society, '27-'28; Secretary M. L. S., '26-'27; Member 4 years; Girls' Basket-Ball Letter, '28; Assistant News Editor "Midway Student," '28; Editor-in-Chief, "Bumble Bee," '29.

Ann's spirit of unselfishness endears her to those who know her best. Fun-loving and witty, Ann is ready to enter into school pranks and jokes; but never to carry them too far. Ann's school spirit is unexcelled. She has been a strong supporter of every team both boys' and girls', since she has been in high school. She is a keen backer of all the publications and clubs. Ever a good sport, a willing helper, and a loyal friend—Ann.

Louise Dunford

Reporter on "Midway Student" Staff, 1929.

Louise is a sweet, conscientious Senior. Not only is she an excellent student in her own studies, but she doesn't mind helping others with theirs. We never see her with a frown on her face, she is always smiling and always has a nice word for everyone she knows. Louise, if you continue this, you need not worry about the future.

ERNESTINE RAY FEUCHTENBERGER

Girls' Glee Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '25-'26, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; Distributing Manager "Midway Student," '28-'29.

Ernestine is certainly full of pep. She is never too tired to do anything—and nine-tenths of the time that "anything" is for someone else. If you feel depressed, go to Ernestine; she will start things humming. Here's to Ernestine—she is a good sport. What more can we say?

WILLIAM FITZHUGH

Member of Junior Hi-Y, '27-'28; Senior Hi-Y, '28-'29.

William is a thorough student and a regular fellow. He is a faithful member of the Class of '29. Although he is somewhat quiet, he takes part in all of the fun which goes on around him, and thus fits nicely into the current of high school life here.

Mary Virginia Gaw

Typist for Annual, '27-'28, '28-'29

Virginia is one of the sweetest and quietest girls in our class. She has a dignified and retiring nature, but when one has learned to know her well, she is a friend worth having. There are many people who do not say much but there are very few who know, as Virginia does, when "silence is golden." She does not seek friends, but if one is worthy of her friendship she is more than glad to welcome such a companion. It is this kind of a person that reflects credit upon herself and class.

H. Brice Graves

President, Hi-Y, '28-'29; Member, Hi-Y, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; Member, Hayes Literary Society, '27, '28, '29; Vice-President, G. A. A., '29; "Chain" Staff, '28.

Brice is a very dependable boy who has always done everything assigned him very conscientiously. He was outstanding in the way of football for the past season; and for a while went out for basket-ball. He is also the mathematician of our class.

Brice is very modest and one would never know he is an accomplished violinist. He still has a very winning blush, too. However, he is losing this now—and his personality has come through to win him scores of friends—and no enemies.

Brice, your future holds great things for you because of your splendid business ability and jolly disposition.

G. Stuart Hamm, Jr.

President of Junior Class, '28; Treasurer Freshman Class, '25-'26; Prophet Senior Class, '28-'29; Players' Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Secretary Hi-Y, '29; Member Hi-Y, '27, '28, '29; Business Manager, "Midway Student," '28-'29; Sport Editor "Midway Student," '27-'28; Honor Committee, '25, '26, '27, '28; Exchange Editor, "Bumble Bee."

Stuart is one of our old standbys. Owing to his cheerful temperament, coupled with fine school spirit, he has become our "most popular boy."

The thing that he knows how to do best is simply to be a friend.

Judging by his size, one would think him to be only a Freshman. He is far from it; he is one of our best Seniors!

Although small in body, he is great in mind and soul.

Frances Dexter Habel

Member, Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29.

Frances came to us from Florida in 1926. Immediately, she became an indispensable part of the class. She is studious, but always finds time for fun and pep. Anyone who does not know Frances might call her "a sweet old-fashioned girl;" but to those who know her, she is just the opposite. We like you, Frances, and we're glad you are with us. You are a girl with a real Lane High Spirit, and we're proud of you.

Marian Octavia Harlan

Marian is an all 'round easy-going, dependable girl. She is a person one likes to know because of her friendliness, and although reserved, good nature will "peep out." It is unusual and rather nice to find some one unassuming, yet interested in everything going on and nearly always ready to join in. In fact, Marian, we would like to have more like you.

Arline Hill

Silence is Arline's virtue. Due to this outstanding quality, we feel that she will fill some successful plan in life. Whatever she attempts to do she carries out conscientiously and to the best of her ability. As we have said of so many people with the same characteristics, "that speech is great, but silence is greater," may also we say of Arline.

WILLIAM DAVIS HOFF

Member of Hi-Y, '28-'29

Willie is one of those easy-going fellows who tends strictly to his own business. His good disposition and sense of humor cause him to be well liked by all who know him. Willie can't resist the temptation to kid someone, and doesn't mind being kidded in return. We predict a great success for him in the business world.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH HOLLOWAY

You may have noticed that Dorothy is very quiet, but it can never be said of her that she is a slacker. Patience and perseverance are outstanding characteristics in her life. She has a pleasing personality, and as a result has many loyal friends. She has shown herself thoroughly efficient in every way, and is capable of facing any situation.

Sue V. Huyett

Member of Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29.

Sue is a person whom all are glad to know. She radiates joy and contentment, and her ready smile and tell-tale dimples suggest happiness and vitality. She is small, ever neat, and petite. One can easily see that this quiet, friendly girl is one who can be depended upon, and get the impression of something substantial and practical.

Helen Jane Humphrey

"A friend to truth; of soul sincere.
In action faithful and in honor clear."

We can hardly find more fitting words to describe Helen. She is one to whom we could go with our troubles and joys.

Helen's good nature and frank spirit are her outstanding characteristics, but she has a plenty of other good ones.

Mary Virginia Johnson

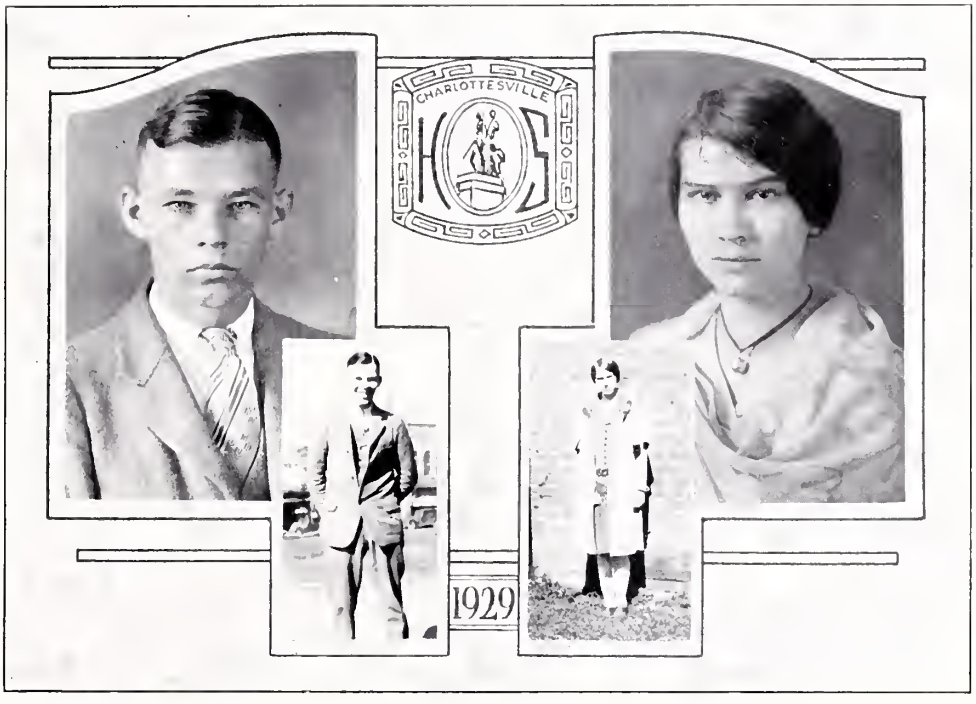
Member, Players' Club, '28-'29; Secretary Girls' Reserve, '27-'28; Art Editor "Bumble Bee," '28-'29; Art Editor "Chain," '28-'29.

Mary V. is one of those fortunate people who can draw. Because of this, she is always willing to help us in the sketches for the "Bumble Bee." She is always stylish, but does not carry it beyond neatness. This is probably due to her artistic nature. We wish you joy, Mary V., when you pursue your art and music in some higher institution.

Robert H. Keller

Member, Hi-Y, '27, '28, '29; Member, Metcalf Literary Society, '28, '29; Football Letter, '27; Captain '28; Assistant Club Editor "Midway Student," '27, '28, '29; Sports Editor "Chain," 1928, '29; P. A. L. S., '27, '28, '29; Aladdin Club, '28, '29.

"Andy" is one of the most popular boys in school. He is Captain of the football team, and has held his position as end for two consecutive years. He is capable of excellent football. "Andy" is very popular among both boys and girls, and although one would not classify him as a "sheik," he certainly possesses that excellent quality of winning h'mself many friends. "Andy," we hope you will make good at V. M. I. next year, for you have proved yourself worthy of both success and popularity—not only a success in athletics, but also in the business line.



Joseph H. Kelley

Treasurer Hi-Y, '28-'29; Member, Hi-Y, '25-'26, '26-'27; Basket-Ball Letter, Football Letter, Sports Editor "Midway Student," '28-'29.

We have in "Pat" a pupil that any school might be proud to call its own. A good football player, a star guard on our basket-ball team, and a fine all-around fellow; that's "Pat."

He is a popular boy, being well liked by all with whom he comes in contact.

A prophecy may be ventured with confidence about his future. His jolly Irish nature will be his chief standby in future years.

Elizabeth Hooper Kepner

Member, Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29.

Ever persevering, and always taking an interest in everything that goes on at old Lane High, is "Beth," a member of the class of '29 and truly worthy of mention. You may have noticed that "Beth" is very quiet, but you cannot say that she ever has been or ever will be a slacker. She has been with us for many years, and due to her cheery disposition, has gained numerous friends.

She is a constant reminder to us that the best always comes to her who grins.

Hilda Mason Lane

Players' Club, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; President Girls' Reserve, '27-'28; Metcalf Literary Society, '27-'29; Advisory Board, G. A. A., '28-'29; Basket-Ball Letters, '27, '28, '29; Joke Editor "Bumble Bee" and "Chain"; Captain Team, '28-'29.

Who is that jumping higher than she is tall? Watch her tie that ball with that big Waynesboro center. Why, that is our "Peaches"—the pet of the High School—the captain of the High School Girls' Basket-Ball Team.

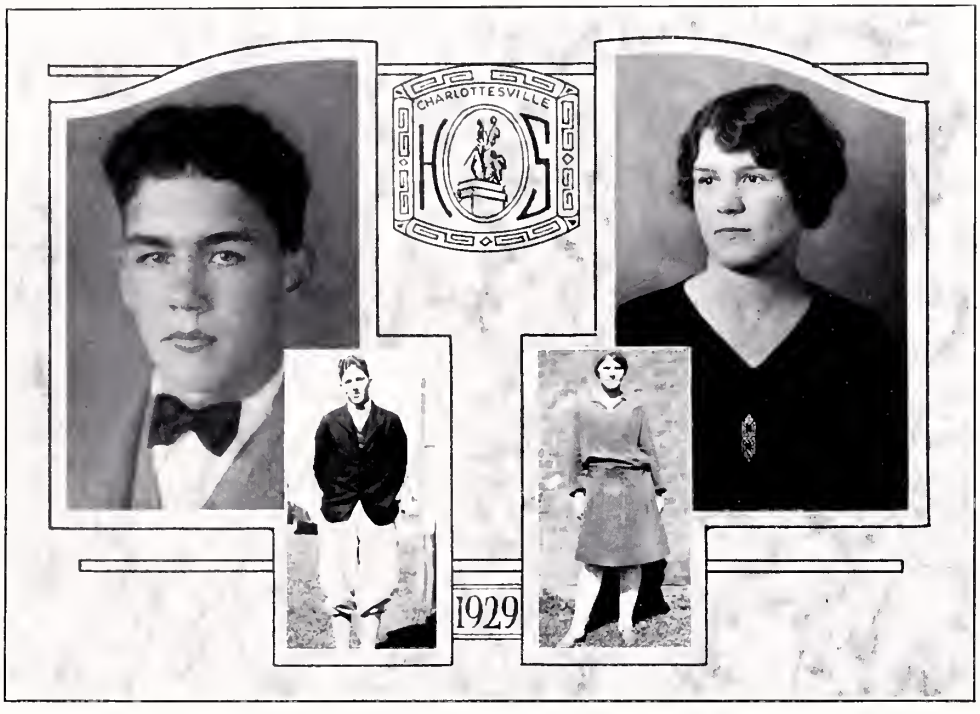
Did you ever hear "Peaches" make a "pep" speech? She can out do Miss Dobie Buford because she tells hers in original rhyme.

She is one of the best all 'round pals in school — a good sport — a hard worker and the most fun always.

Ann Rousseau Laterneau

Players' Club, '28-'29; Glee Club, '28-'29; President, Girls' Reserve, '29; Treasurer, M. L. S., '27-'28; Member M. L. S., '25 to '29; Basket-Ball Letter, '28; Reporter "Midway Student," '27-'28; Honor Committee, '27-'28.

Ann is just the kind of a girl that everybody likes—happy, easy-going and full of fun. Her slow drawl and pleasant manner win for her many friends. She is an active member of the various organizations of the school. With all her fun and organizations, Ann does not neglect her studies, for she is one of the leading members in every course she takes. Wherever she goes she will be an honor and a credit to old Lane High School. We wish her success in whatever she may undertake.



Hugh Blair Long

Football Letters, '25-'26, '26-'27

Hugh is a fine example of a student with a perfect civic spirit, a spirit which causes a student to be a law-abiding citizen in any community. His general temperament is a decided gain to our school life, and we know that he will make a model citizen.

Elizabeth Eunice McCauley

Elizabeth is one of the quiet and unobtrusive girls in our class. She is noted for her good nature and even temper.

Future years hold so much uncertainty for all of us, but we are sure they will be kind to Elizabeth.

Walter McIlhenny

Testator of the Senior Class, '29; Story Editor on "Bumble Bee," Staff, '29.

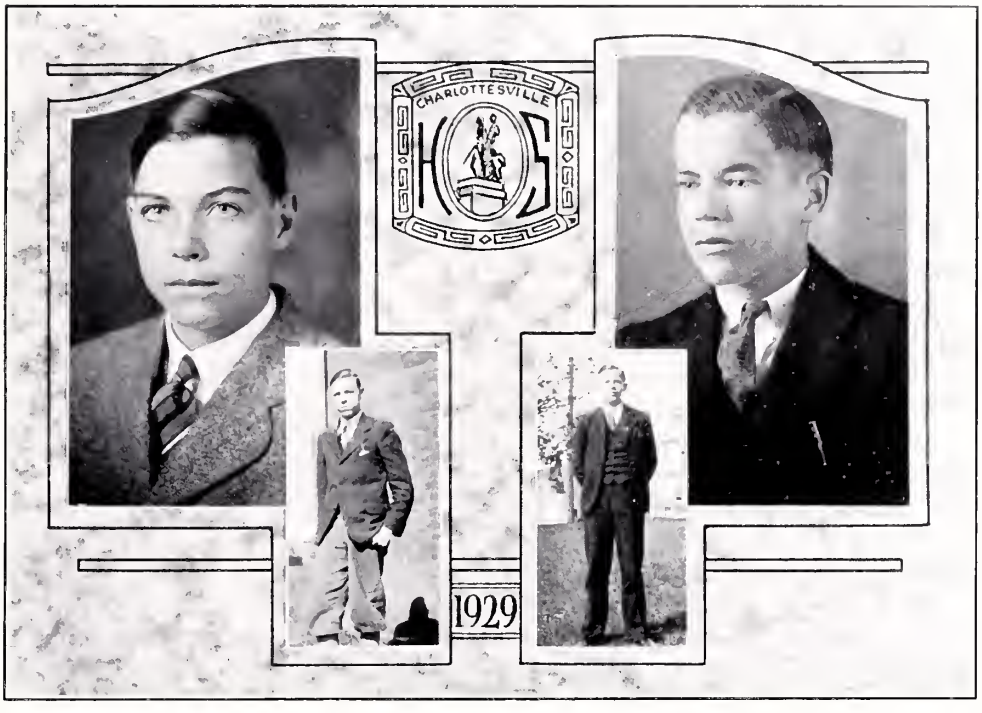
Walter is one of the quieter members of our class. He is exceedingly diligent in his studies and is willing to cooperate in many ways to do what he can in all of the various activities of our school.

Walter always respects his teachers, is very modest with all of his other dealings, but that goes to prove that Walter is a worth-while person.

Muriel Corbett McMurdo

Member of Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29.

Another one of our Seniors from the country. She is the maiden noted for her bright eyes and sunny smile. She is a lover of the great out of doors and a horsewoman of note. Her cheery disposition and good humor will be missed very much by old Lane High. Here's much luck to you, Muriel, and may the coming years bring success and happiness.



ROBERT MONTAGU MCMURDO, JR.

Member, Hi-Y, '25-'26, '26-'27, '27-'28; Member, Hayes Literary Society, '25 to '29; School News Editor "Bumble Bee," '28-'29.

Robert is a very bashful boy. He has a dry sense of humor. He is one of our most reserved Seniors usually keeping his thoughts to himself.

Being a very deep thinker is Robert's chief characteristic.

The key-note of his life is perseverance and patience.

HERMAN MAUPIN

Assistant Manager Basket-Ball, '29; Assistant Manager Football, '28; Baseball, '28; Stand Manager, '29; Stand Clerk, '28.

"Frog" is one of the most popular boys in school among the boys. In spite of his size he is a fighter of no mean ability. "Frog" is a trifle girl-shy; but we hope he will soon outgrow this.

We know that "Frog" will meet with that success which ability deserves.

Mary Elizabeth Mayo

Players' Club, '25-'26, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; Girls' Glee Club, '27 to '29; Treasurer Girls' Glee Club, 1928; Secretary Girls' Glee Club, '29; Girls' Reserve, '27 to '29; Critic, Metcalf Literary Society, '28; Member, M. L. S., '26 to '29; Honor Committee, '28; Assistant Editor, "Midway Student," '29.

Mary Elizabeth is one of the most intellectual girls in our class. She has more than her share of talents, for she sings well, plays well, and declaims even better. One thing about Mary Elizabeth which is very attractive is her speech; when she is talking she uses not only her tongue, but her eyes and hands as well. With all of these talents and her jolly spirit, no wonder Mary Elizabeth is liked by everyone.

Flora Lewis Morrison

Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29

Flora, or "Pody" as she is sometimes called by her friends, is a quiet, good natured person who has never shown temper. We are beginning to believe she has not one. We haven't had the pleasure of having her with us as long as we would like, but have enjoyed her company for two years. Flora is a good sport, and is willing to do anything asked of her. She is also good at outdoor sports.

From our knowledge of her, we know she will have no trouble in making her way in the world.

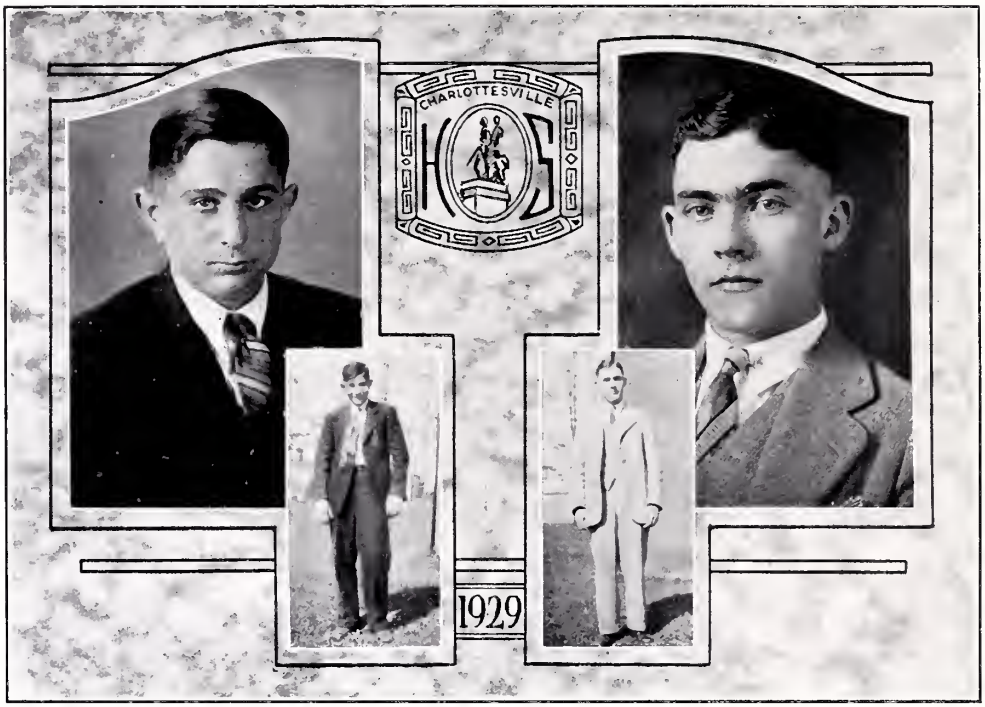
Dorothy Louise Odle

Dorothy Odle, one of the sweetest girls of our graduating class of '29, is always in a good humor. She doesn't even grumble when she is working on a difficult commercial example. "Dot" is always ready to help anyone who is in trouble. She is a good student in Lane High School, and we graduates feel sure that she will be a good one in college. "Dot" has no enemies in Lane High School.

Carrie Peyton

Girls' Reserve, '25-'26

Three rah's for the tiniest member of the Senior class! Carrie is as jolly, mischievous and sweet as anyone so small could possibly be. But yet there's room for just enough seriousness to make her the pet of the class. If things don't go just right, you never hear a grumble from Carrie, not even one. If there is something unpleasant said of anyone, just make up your mind that it isn't Carrie, speaking or being spoken of. A splendid sport and always cheerful is the one and only Carrie. The best wishes for success from the class will go with her when she takes her position as a stenographer.



SIDNEY REICHMAN

Football Squad, '26-'27, '27-'28; Basket-Ball Squad, '27-'28.

Have you ever seen Sidney when he didn't look happy? The best thing about him is that his hilarity is quite contagious—we wonder if Mr. Greene will agree with that?

Sidney is as good a tonic for depression as can be found.

In spite of all his foolishness, he is a good student.

Sidney, due to your unusual personality, you will surely be a success in everything.

LINWOOD ROBINSON

Because Linwood is so very quiet and always tends strictly to his own business, he has not made himself very well-known. This we do know: he is very modest in all of his dealings with his fellow classmates.

MARIANNA ROBINSON

Marianna is the essence of neatness. In these days of much speaking her natural reserve seems admirable. She is a regular "Midnight Oil" student, as her record in school will show. Notwithstanding her close application to study, she has many friends who look forward with eagerness and confidence to her graduation.

CLARA SCHWARTZ

Editor, "Chain," '28-'29; President Class, '25-'26; Orator, '28-'29; Players' Club, '25 to '29; Treasurer Glee Club, '28-'29; Glee Club, '26 to '29; President Hayes Literary Society, '27-'28; Vice-President, '27-'28; Critic, H. L. S., '28-'29; H. L. S., '25 to '29; Club Editor, "Midway Student," '28; Assistant Editor, "Chain," '27-'28; Sophomore Editor, "Bumble Bee," '27-'28; Joke Editor, "Midway Student," '28-'29; Play, "The Patsy," '28-'29.

Clara has been one of our class all thru our high school life. No one knows her but to love her. She is ever ready for fun and takes an enthusiastic part in all sports. Clara ranks among the highest in her classes, and takes an active part in literary and social functions of the school. The success of the "Chain" is due largely to her, as our Editor-in-Chief. Clara has a splendid ability to declaim and has won several declamation honors. Clara is a true blue girl and will always get along. Best luck to you, Clara.

LAURA ALICE SHORT

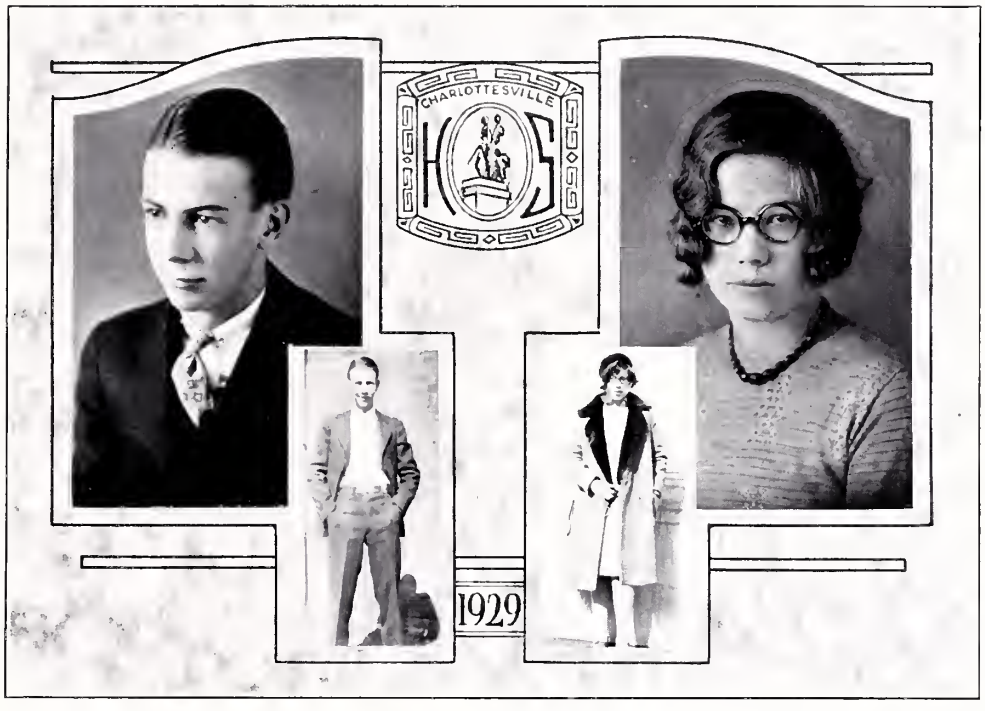
Hayes Literary Society, 1929, Vice-President, '27-'28; Players' Club, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '25-'26, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29; Metcalf Literary Society, '25-'26; Typist, "Bumble Bee," '27-'28, '28-'29; Assistant Editor, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29; Typist, "Chain," '27-'28, '28-'29; Typist, "Midway Student," '27 to '29.

Who doesn't love Laura? Here is an all 'round "good sport." One who is dainty, very graceful, intellectual, witty and lots of fun. We all love Laura! She takes part in the school activities and is quite a credit to Lane High. In addition to these merits, Laura is one of our best poetry students. We all wish Laura the best of luck. And character! Her winning smile! Determination and will-power will carry Laura a long way in this world.

GEORGINE SMITH

Girls' Reserve, '26-'27, '27-'28, '28-'29

Georgine is one of the group of faithful girls who has gone through High School with the class of '29. She is quiet and also possesses the beautiful quality of friendliness. Although she is studious, she always is mingling fun and good times with the more serious affairs. Georgine is also one that can always be depended upon to keep her word. Her frankness is one of her chief assets, and we all hope that she will be a great success in future years.



FREDERICK SOUDER

A good-natured, easy-going student, full of pep, and well-liked by the pupils that know him, is "Fritz." He is a good leader, which was shown when he was chosen as a cheer leader for our school. He is also quite an entertainer, as the girls could probably tell you. Here's to your success in the future "Fritz," and may you become an active citizen wherever you may be, and have a thorough interest in your pursuits.

ELIZABETH POWERS STEVENS

Girls' Reserve, '25 to '29; Assistant Art Editor and Critic of Wampler Literary Society.

Elizabeth is another one of our "sweet, quiet girls." She has an excellent disposition. However, her best traits are those of a very accomplished and talented pianist and artist. She is very ambitious and studious; though her modesty keeps her from showing her accomplishments, she is really very smart and attractive.

"Lizzie" is truly a friend worth having and a friend worth keeping.

Louis Velle

Hi-Y, '25-'26, '27-'28, '28-'29; Basket-Ball Letters, '27-'28, '28-'29; Football Letters, '27-'28; Assistant Art Editor, "Chain," '28-'29.

Here is one of the posts of our school community. If Louis lacks in anything, it is made up by his high spirits and athletic ability. He plays both football and basket-ball. As you know, he is quite "slick" in both. Louis is always ready for "a little fun" on the side. Yes, he surely does have plenty of pep. We surely do need more like him to keep up the pep in high school.

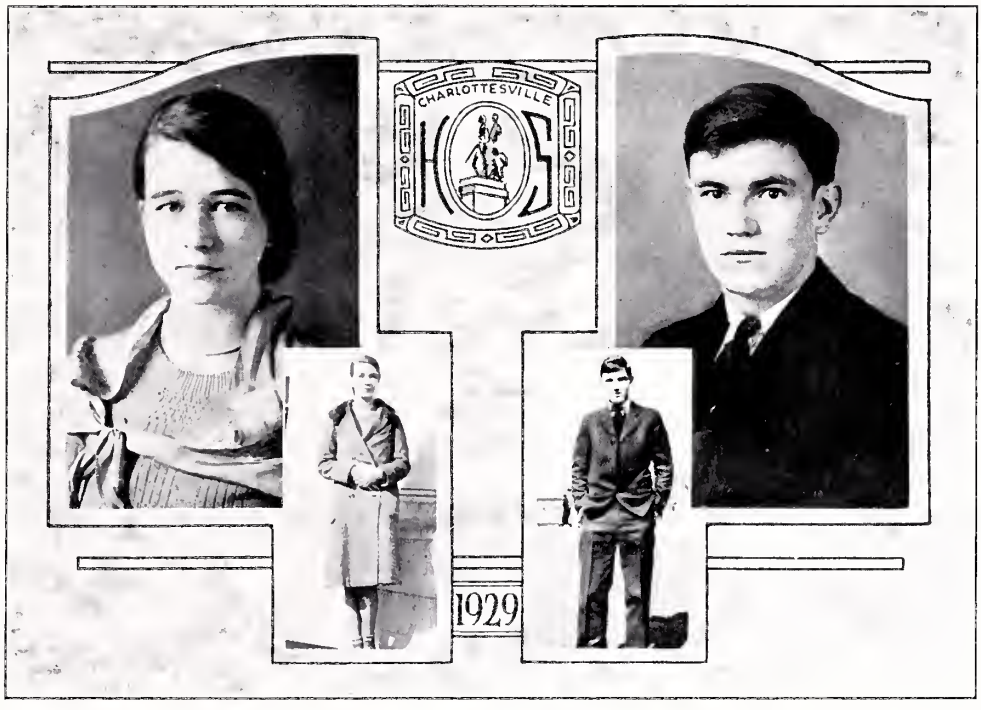
Mary Virginia Via

Vice-President Girls' Reserve, '28-'29; Secretary Class, '27-'28; Vice-President Senior Class, '28-'29; Players' Club, '28-'29; Glee Club, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '26 to '29; Secretary, Metcalf Literary Society, '28-'29; M. L. S., '27 to '29; Senior Editor, "Chain," '28-'29; Poetry Editor, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29; Senior Class Poet, '29.

Mary is the very best kind of a pal. She is always willing to do what she can to help anyone, and to share their troubles. Lucky is the girl who has Mary for a friend!

We all like Mary—boys and girls, alike. She is witty, attractive, and sweet. Mary is good at anything she tries. She can really read, make talks, and write verse. She is a good old sport. She's always ready for fun and a good joke.

An all'round good pal, fun-maker, fellow-classmate, and friend—that's Mary!



Catherine McIver Wade

Players' Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Glee Club, '28-'29; Girls' Reserve, '26 to '29; President Hayes Literary Society, '28-'29; H. L. S., '25 to '29; Honor Committee, '26, '27, '28, '29; Vice-President Honor Committee, '27-'28.

Catherine is one of the girls who has been with us through our high school life. She is one of our youngest students, but in spite of this she has made a good record in school, even though she has been taking some of the hardest subjects.

Catherine is full of fun which at times makes her one of the most giggling girls in the Senior class.

Keep up the good work, Catherine!

George Wyllie

President of Metcalf Literary Society, '28-'29; President of History Club, '29; Member of Basket-Ball Squad, '28-'29.

George is a studious, quiet, gentlemanly boy who will, we have no doubt, make his way in this world. His literary ability is very evident in high school.

Although he is no star athlete, George has shown his school spirit by going out for basket-ball. He has been with our class only a few years, but the longer he is one of us the better we like him.

Wanda H. Zabawski

President Class, '26-'28; Vice-President Class, '27-'28.

Wanda is a quiet, sweet, and pretty girl. She is very modest and unassuming, but also a good sport and ever loyal to anything she undertakes to do. She has many friends in Lane High who will ever remember her.

The teachers enjoy teaching Wanda, for she is a good student.

Wherever you go, Wanda, you will surely be a fine example of a Lane High student, and will win many friends by your pleasant personality.

Freeda Zimmerman

Players' Club, '28-'29; Glee Club, '27-'28, '28-'29; Hayes Literary Society, '27-'28, '28-'29; Typist, "Bumble Bee," '28-'29.

Freeda loves life and does not spend the day complaining, which makes her a most pleasant companion. Her good nature wins her many friends. Not only this, but Freeda is an ideal student.

She is a girl who somehow unconsciously inspire one's very deepest confidences.

We are sure Freeda will succeed in the world of business, for, having chosen her field, she will put her very best in it.

Class Poem

Sadness creeps upon us,
Tears are seen to start,
As there comes a realization
That now we must depart.

In our school life together
Our friendships large have grown,
Soon these years will be the happiest
That our lives have ever known.

Four short years we've been here,
We've studied hard, and yet,
There has been a sweetness in it
That we can ne'er forget.

At times it has seemed unfair
We've thought that we'd been wronged,
But as we look back upon it
We'd have it all prolonged.

Somehow parting leaves within us
A thought for future things,
And a question deeply pondered—
What will Fate see fit to bring?

In sorrow now, we bid adieu,
As our hearts with love entwine,
We want the best that Time can bring
For the Class of '29.

Class History

THE class of '29 feels that its journey has ended. There have been struggles and hardships for us all, but the success of graduation has made the victory seem greater.

The class entered upon the many tasks ahead of them with a determination to win. The task of a non-stop flight was indeed a tedious one, but with such a reliable crew as was selected, the plane was ready to fly. Immediately before the flight, Clara Schwartz was chosen as chief pilot and Stuart Hamm as chief mechanic. In turn Laura Short and Bobby Daniel were selected as assistants.

After a very triumphant landing overseas, it was necessary to select another crew. This time Bradley Johnson was chosen leader, Betty Gochnauer, vice-leader, Lawrence Short head of the finances, and Sally Watson secretary of the journey.

In the fall of '28 the crew was ready to return home again. Before the flight a new crew was again selected. Stuart Hamm carefully piloted the plane, "Fly High for Lane High," home. Mary Via, Laura Short, and Grace Sneed assisted him. The return journey was not quite so difficult since the crew had in previous years learned some of the dangers of aviation and was able to cope with them better.

A successful landing was made, but again a difficult year was facing each passenger of the plane. Each and everyone strived to reach the goal which would promote them to higher standing. Under the careful guardianship of Mr. H. H. Walker, and our pilot, Bobby Daniel, the year proved one to be kept on record. Many of our ideals were reached and many of the crew proved themselves worthy of the medals they won. Ree Campbell was made leader of the paper, "The Midway Student"; Ann Doner headed the magazine, "The Bumble Bee"; and Clara Schwartz was Editor of the annual, "The Chain."

So after four years of many sad, yet pleasant experiences, we, the class of '29, bid a fond farewell to the schoolmates we leave behind.

Class Prophecy

DAYS have come and days have gone, and we are now in the midst of the year of our Lord 1949. For the past twenty years I have been located in the South Sea Islands, where I have been very successful in selling combination tooth-paste and shoe polish to the natives. Having received a wire from my company to return to Charlottesville, I left at once. Upon leaving the train, I hailed a taxi, which proved to be a Yellow Cadillac driven by my old class-mate, Willie Hoff. Willie informed me that he was now president of the Yellow Cab Co. (of Charlottesville). I hardly recognized the old home town as I rode down Main Street, which had at last been paved. I noticed a large beautiful building on the right, which, as I later learned, was the new Lane High School.

I was met at the door of my company by Herman Maupin, the janitor, who led me to the president's private office. Through a cloud of smoke, rising from a fifty-cent cigar, I recognized Bobby Daniel, President of the Class of '29. My interest had been aroused at seeing my old classmates, and I asked Bobby if he knew about the rest of the class of '29. He pushed a little button on his desk and his private secretary, Ree Campbell, entered. After we had talked over old times, Ree told me the story of the class of '29.

Her story was even more interesting than the novels of Ann Doner, who ranks high among the novelists of the present day. Brice Graves is sole owner of the Rio Sardine Factory, where William Fitzhugh, Joseph Kelley, Virginia Gaw, and Sue Huyett turn out that delicious fruit for him. Ada Bonavita, Betty Burgess, Frances Habel, and Carrie Peyton are in the Ziegfeld Follies, now owned by Linwood Robinson. Ann Laterneau, Mary Elizabet Mayo, Margaret Baptist, and Catherine Wade are honored members of the faculty at Lane High. Fritz Souder is also employed at Lane High. He is the janitor.

Mary Via has distinguished herself as a world-famous poet. Mary V. Johnson and Louis Velle draw the cover designs for College Humor and Snappy Stories. Marian Harlan and Arline Hill own a pretzel factory at Red Hill, where Louise Dunford and Ernestine Feuchtenberger are employed. Lucy Dawson and Elsie Dollins have a store a Simeon, where they sell dry goods, hardware, candy, and tonics for man and beast. Clayton Coleman has commercialized that cute little walk, and is their floor-walker.

"Preacher" Bouldin has lived up to his name and yodels from the pulpit each Sunday at Keswick. Dorothy Holloway and Marianna Robinson have written a new book, "The Evils of the Modern Generation." Muriel McMurdo is the only woman cop in Charlottesville. She has already arrested Freeda Zimmerman for speeding up Vinegar Hill. Wanda Zabawski and Georgine Smith run a beauty shop at Eastham, where Hugh Long has achieved prominence as a chiropractor. Robert McMurdo runs a second-hand candy shop on Main Street. The candy he sells reminds one of that sold by the G. A. A. stand back in '29.

Laura Short and Elizabeth Stevens are matrons in the state insane asylum, where Sidney Reichman has been confined, still raving about the ten cents he lost while a student at Lane High School. Elizabeth Baum and Annie Beard run a hospital for sick dogs, where Beth Kepner, Flora Morrison, and Dorothy Odle are the head nurses. Robert Keller is head coach of the Sing Sing football team.

"How about 'Peaches' Lane? Do she and Keller still go around together?" I interrupted.

"No. They got married."

Walter McIlhenny, the great horticulturist, has just discovered how to cross the oyster with the milkweed to produce oyster stews.

As Ree finished her story, Clara Schwartz, editor of the Cosmopolitan magazine, entered unnoticed behind me. She slammed the door to attract our attention, and the shock caused my eye balls to turn backwards as I tried to see what was behind me. I could see into the back of my head, and not until then did I know that I, Stuart Hamm, was absolutely devoid of brains.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the Senior Class of Lane High School, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, being about to embark upon the sea of life filled with ceaseless troubles, hardships and sorrows, and still, after four years in Lane, being in full possession of our senses, do declare this to be our last will and testament.

We bequeath to our sorely-tried principal and faculty, our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for their patience and interest in us. We have given them many trying hours, but we hope to prove that their efforts have not been in vain.

To the Senior Class of 1930 we leave, with the proviso that they keep it intact, do not deface or mar in any way, our beloved school building. We leave them also that quality for which we have been most famous—our dignity, requesting that they guard it as we have done.

Our silence and our manners being too valuable to bequeath, we take with us.

Our seats in Assembly Hall we leave to our successors, feeling sure they—the seats, not the successors—will be well filled.

We also bequeath to the Senior Class "Sis" Brechin, 'nuff said!

To Mr. Lacy we leave a ticket to New Orleans, the 1930 de luxe edition of Montgomery Ward catalogue, and the rag paper edition of Sears, Roebuck.

To Mr. Blume we leave an overstuffed rocking chair, and a cut glass gavel with which we hope he will be able to control the erstwhile obstreperous members of room 13.

To Mr. Walker we leave a thesis on the fourth dimension and as—himself wrote it we feel that Mr. Walker has his Ph.D. cinched.

To Mr. Jarman we leave a rayon collar, and a fund with which to equip the auditorium with traffic lights and a rubber floor. We also leave him Clayton Coleman's laugh with which to express his joy over our departure.

We give and bequeath to Mr. Speidel a cheque on the Rivanna Sand Bank for one dollar with which he is to buy a Hispano-Suiza to tour the Fiji Islands.

Stuart Hamm's excess height we leave to Scott Carter.

Bobby Daniel's avoir-du-pois we leave to "Buck" Wingfield—He needs it.

Ada Bonavita's faculty to giggle her way through high school we pass on to Marjorie Quarles.

Reichman's snappy flash-backs, and malodorous experiments we leave to Gordon Carter. We request that Mr. Lacy as an impartial judge carry out this bequest.

To Winifred Pugh we give Clara Schwartz's pep and volubility.

Willie Hoff leaves his ability to break helmets to Harry King.

Ann Laterneau's drawl is transferred to "Sis" Brechin so that he may be better understood in assembly.

Brice Graves wills his conceit to Lindsay Stringfellow.

Catherine Wade leaves her formula for making good grades to Welford Shumate.

"Pat" Kelley's manly looks are transferred to Lester Maddox.

Ree Campbell leaves her athletic ability to Hazel Mitchell.

"Peaches" Lane wills her popularity to Nancy Doner.

Hugh Long leaves his sex appeal and curly hair to Everett McAlexander.

Betty Burgess leaves her reserved attitude to Louise Cowles.

"Preacher" Bouldin leaves his ability to yodel to Firpo Marshall.

Frances Habel leaves her sweet smile and her adoration for Bill Alwood to Bully Mitchell.

Floyd Johnson leaves his good physique to Hollis Fitch.

William Fitzhugh leaves his good nature and friendliness to Billy Jones.

We leave as executors, feeling that our honor and reputation are safe in their hands, and that our last wishes will be carried out to the letter, Mr. Hawley and "Crack" Harris.

I Wish I Could Paint a Picture

I wish I could paint a picture
Of a beautiful autumn day,
With the leaves blowing in whirlwinds,
For they seem to have no place to stay.

And I'd paint a blue sky above,
Tall, blowing trees growing bare,
And all of them swinging in rhythm
To the music and songs of the air.

And I'd paint a broad, grassy pasture
With cows grazing peacefully there,
A tattered and barefoot boy
Whistling, and free from all care.

A picture like that could be painted,
And with it all minds be enthused,
But never could it be painted
With the same brush nature has used.

Twilight

The busy day has passed away,
The sky has begun to glow;
The evening star shines from afar,
As the sun sinks down below.

'Tis twilight! 'Tis twilight!
The most gorgeous time o' day;
Our work is o'er for tonight,
"Let's stop and rest," we say.

The sky turns pale; the sun is gone,
The star has become a wondrous light
The moon has risen—These two alone—
What is more wondrous than twilight?

Coaches

Coach Buford

Lane High was very fortunate this year in again securing Miss Florence Buford as coach of the girls' basket-ball team. Miss Buford proved her ability as coach several years ago at Farmville State Teachers' College. Through both defeat and victory, "Bufie" is always an ideal coach. To her the success of the season is due. Her connection with Lane High as a teacher has made her very popular with the student body, and this has been a great help to her as coach. We sincerely hope she will be with us again next year.

Coach Moore

To "Dinty," our popular football and basket-ball coach, goes much of the credit for the success of the two teams. His ability as a coach was equalled by his popularity among the boys. He came here with a big reputation as an athlete from King's College in Bristol, Virginia. The boys owe much of their good showing this year to "Dinty's" persistent and careful work.

We all hope Mr. Moore will be with us again to help the boys through other seasons.

Cheer Leaders

Football Season '28-'29

IN looking back over the football season of this year it might be termed successful although the team did not attain the heights that it did last year. The team was handicapped at certain times but made a very creditable showing in every game, especially those at home.

When our coach "Dinty" Moore issued the first call for practice the squad of sixty men responded. Among these were five letter men of last year, and a quantity of new material.

We were very fortunate in having Mr. H. C. Moore for a coach. Mr. Moore was an end on the King's College team. He proved an ideal tutor and moulded into shape a very formidable eleven from a squad of mostly new men.

"Andy" Keller was made captain of the team and he made a wonderful leader and raised the spirits of the team in the darkest moments by his undying fight.

A short resume of each game follows, in the sequence as played:

LANE HIGH 0 WOODBERRY FOREST 19

The game was played in September and although the team was forced to accept the short end of the score they made a fine showing, for they had been practicing only two weeks. Although played on a wet field, the game proved very interesting. Stringfellow, playing his first game, starred for Lane High.

LANE HIGH 12 CULPEPER 0

The next game, the Lane "gridwarriors" were out for blood and ran rough shod over their inexperienced opponents. Both of Lane's scores came in the second quarter, the first as the result of a drive that carried the ball to Culpeper's two-yard line, the second from a fifteen-yard pass from Velle to Purvis. The running and passing of Velle featured the game.

LANE HIGH 7 — MCGUIRE'S PREP. SCHOOL 12

The Lane High boys put up a good but losing fight, against the heavier and more experienced prep. school eleven. Lane's lone score came in the third quarter when Marshall blocked a McGuire punt on Lane's ten-yard and Honeycutt recovered it and crossed the line. The extra point was easily made. Marshall played an excellent game at tackle.

LANE HIGH 0 — STAUNTON 6

For the first time in eight years Lane High lost to its old rival, Staunton. The playing of the team was much below the average, probably due to overconfidence. Lane High outplayed Staunton in every phase of the game but was unable to score. Our last hope for victory failed when Purvis' run for a touchdown was called back.

LANE HIGH 12 — V. S. D. B. 0

We journeyed back to Staunton one week later determined to win from V. S. D. B. after our defeat at the hands of Staunton High. Lane's scores came as the result of a run by Trevillian and a pass from Trevillian to Captain Keller.

LANE HIGH 21 — HARRISONBURG 2

Getting all the breaks of the game, Lane High upset the dope by winning from the undefeated Harrisonburg team. Playing great football, Keller scored two touchdowns, one as the result of a Harrisonburg fumble and the other by a pass. The punting of Purvis was exceptionally good. Trevillian's forty-five-yard run for a touchdown was the sensation of the game.

LANE HIGH 0 CLIFTON FORGE 14

Playing Clifton Forge for the District Championship, the Lane High eleven lost a hard fought game to a more experienced team. Both teams played well but the aerial attack of Clifton Forge proved too much for Lane High. Purvis, Lang, and Marshall were the outstanding stars for the home team.

LANE HIGH 21 RANDOLPH-MACON 6

Just after their defeat in Clifton Forge, the Lane High boys made an excellent showing in this last game of the season. Every man on the team played well, and enabled Lane High to run up a large score on their heavier opponents. Touchdowns were scored by Trevillian, Keller, and Marshall. This game ended a very successful season, and showed the type of football the team was capable of playing.

Individual Football Write-ups

Robert Keller, the captain of the team, was a very formidable end. He was especially good on the defense and also figured in most of the scoring. His good sportsmanship and his ability as a leader were great helps to the team.

Elmer Purvis, our All-State end, was one of the outstanding players on the team. His uncanny ability in punting and catching passes was equalled by his defensive play.

Lee Honeycutt can always be depended upon to play a hard steady game. He is found in every play.

Orvall Marshall, the mainstay of the line, well deserved to be elected the best player of the season. He fights from beginning to end, and never fails to get his man.

Louis Velle, although the lightest player, was the fastest on the team. He is noted for his end runs. His coolness, coupled with his speed, makes him a brilliant player.

Scott Carter deserves much praise for the way he held down his position. His presence will be a great help next year.

Brice Graves, although injured in the last part of the season, was one of the most valuable players. His defensive playing was unequalled.

Ed Adams, our playing manager, was one of the mainstays of the team. We are fortunate in having Ed back with us next year.

Charles Lang, our tall quarterback, was a superb field general. He was as good at stopping his opponents plays as he was running his own.

Lindsay Stringfellow, our hard-hitting "never-say-die" fullback, never failed to gain. His ability at backing up the line was unequalled.

This was Harry Wheeler's first year on the team but he started out with determination. He soon made a place for himself on the first team.

Joseph Kelley, our fighting little Irish center, was in the middle of every play. He played every minute of the season and held down his position in a way that could not be beaten.

This was Elmer Gibson's first year of football, but he soon gained a star berth on the first team.

William Trevillian's running and passing ability is hard to beat. Although crippled in the first of the season, he came back with a rush. He can always be depended upon for a neat gain.

Boys' Basket-Ball Season

THE boys' basket-ball season began about the middle of January when the team met the strong V. S. D. B. team of Staunton. The boys made a fine showing and won the game by a 37-33 score. Following this the team journeyed to Bridgewater where they lost a hard fought game 18-15. The next trip carried the boys to Waynesboro and they had to accept the small end of a 10-7 score. Neither team did much scoring, but the Waynesboro boys seemed to have the edge. Harrisonburg was then met on their floor, and the closest game of the season was played. Harrisonburg finally won 26-25, after the game had to go an extra period.

The next game, with Lee High of Staunton, was played on the home floor. Lane High's luck seemed to have changed, and they easily won from the Staunton team. V. S. D. B. was then played in Staunton and the Lane High team lost 31-20. Following this Bridgewater was played here and was easily beaten. From this game on, Lane High was "right" and couldn't be stopped. Waynesboro was the next victim. The game ended 25 to 16 in favor of Lane High. When we met Harrisonburg everyone expected a close game, but the boys doubled the score on the valley team. The final score was 40 to 20. The next two games were played with the Meriweather Lewis and Miller School respectively. The games proved interesting but Lane High was easily winner in both of them.

The team then journeyed to Staunton and won from Lee High for the second time by a score of 28-27. This was the sixth consecutive game won by Lane High, and the last game of the season.

At the Washington and Lee Tournament, the team lost its first game and was therefore eliminated. They were beaten by an experienced team from Oak Ridge Academy in North Carolina.

Girls' Basket-Ball

THE prospects for girls' basket-ball were very bright this year, for out of thirteen letter men of last year, nine returned. But sad to relate, three were lost by the wayside on account of exams, sickness, and too much other work. The "old ladies" who were left, Captain "Peaches" Lane, Manager "Bully" Mitchell, Assistant Manager Anne Rea, "Bonnie" Bonavita, Ree Campbell, and "Lu" Maupin, went to work with a will; and with the aid of many new recruits, a fast little team was organized. Most notable among the newcomers were "Dot" Fitch, "Peggy" Sandridge, and Bernice Robertson. We cannot pass, however, without mentioning the work of Frances Parker, Harriet Hankins and Mildred Smith.

The first game came as a blow when the girls went over the mountain to play Bridgewater and returned home with only 20 points, while they reluctantly left a big 38 behind. Nothing daunted, it was now "Let's get Waynesboro," "Down the Coiner Twins!" So over the mountain went the "local lassies" again. Too gruesome to linger over is the tale of Waynesboro's 37 points to Lane High's 7.

Coming back full of revenge, the Lane High girls completely overwhelmed the Jefferson School of Commerce with 49 to 9 points. The next night they went over the mountain, and with "Bonnie" running wild and scoring 32 points, defeated V. S. D. B. 44-16.

Then began the return games, all on the home floor, and the team had made up their minds to win them everyone. The first of these was Bridgewater and had to be played in the old Methodist Church building. All the first team was fouled out except "Bonnie" and Ree, who fought like tigers, but Bridgewater possessed that "will to win" and Lane High again met defeat, 33-29.

The next game was that with the old opponents, Waynesboro and the Coiners! But this time the local team went on the floor determined to win, and were "Running the twins ragged" when Lucy fouled out, and the Waynesboro team left the floor. The game was awarded to Lane High 2-0.

On February 22, the team made its last trip over the mountain and met the "friendly foe," Harrisonburg. The excellent playing of "Lu," "Bully," and "Dot" helped a lot; but Captain "Jack" shot too many goals and Harrisonburg won 22-11. The return game was one of the fastest games ever played on the Armory floor. The brilliant guarding of Anne Rea held the wizard, Jacqueline, practically scoreless; but, nevertheless, Lane High lost again 19-18.

As "The Chain" goes to press there is a pending game with Petersburg, but already Lane High has a total of 180 points to their opponents 174.

Despite the fact that the work of the Y. M. C. A. has been discontinued in Charlottesville, the Hi-Y Club is still very much alive under the able leadership of Mr. Speidel.

The outstanding event in the first part of the year was the Football Banquet, at which the team was entertained. Among the main speakers were Bob Osborne, Mr. Jarman, and Coach Moore. Members of the Girls' Reserves were waitresses.

During the Thanksgiving season the club gave aid to some needy people.

At Christmas, the Hi-Y and Girl's Reserves distributed thirty-five baskets of food and provisions.

As the "Chain" goes to press they are in the midst of planning a Come Clean Campaign and inter-city meet with the Staunton and Waynesboro Hi-Y Clubs.

The Hi-Y was also instrumental in organizing a new Junior Hi-Y Club, which has been quite active during the year.

At the present there are twenty-six members on roll, which is the largest enrollment in the history of the Club.

Trying to live up to their name and place in the National organization of the Girl Reserves, the local club organized early in the fall. With Miss Buford as an enthusiastic leader many new plans were drawn up; a name, "The Girl Reserves of Lane High," was selected; new members were elected; and many good times were decided upon. Those new members voted in this year were: Nancy Doner, Nancy Jacobs, Mae Zabawski, Polly McMurdo, and Luella Maupin.

At Christmas the girls, assisted by members of the Hi-Y, decorated the Assembly Hall for the Christmas program. A beautiful Christmas tree was set up on the stage and after the program this tree and many presents were sent to the Children's ward at the University Hospital.

The girls will present a Mother's Day program in Assembly in May and they have planned many other surprises for the school.

This organization is a branch of the National Girl Reserves of America. They have certain rules to abide by and certain goals they must reach each year. The local club is doing all it can this year to keep up the standard and not go trailing in the dust.

This year the girls were in eharge of the Christmas musie in assembly hall and presented a very beautiful program. On Mareh 15, they presented a St. Patriek's Day program and mueh credit is due them for their sueeessful efforts to eharmingly entertain the student body. As the "Chain" goes to press, the members have not presented an operetta, but preparation is being made for one of the most suceessful ever presented in the high sehool.

This year the Hayes Literary Society presented a program on Washington's birthday in assembly, and it was declared a success by everyone.

Now all the members are filled with the determination to win again this year in the contest and then kept that beautiful banner all the time. Hugh Hawkins, Charles Hulvey, Catherine Wade, and Clara Schwartz have been chosen to represent the society in the contest.

Their slogan now is: "We must beat the Metcalf Literary Society."

The Metcalf Literary Society is very anxious to win the banner from the Hayes Literary Society this year. The Hayes Literary Society, however, is as equally determined to keep it; so we predict a very interesting contest between them.

The student body enjoyed the Jefferson Day Program, put on by this society, as they always do their programs.

All the time possible is being spent on the preliminaries to the "big" contest. Such talented people as Mary E. Mayo, Thomas Parrott, and Lawrence Brunton have already been chosen to participate.

All over the country one hears of the Junior Hi-Y. It is one of the outstanding organizations for boys. The Junior Club trains the boys for their future work in the Senior Hi-Y. Boys cannot obtain membership to this club until they have been voted in by the members of the Senior Hi-Y.

It is indeed a great honor to belong to this club which stands for Truth and Honesty. Their significance is best seen in their motto, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character."

Attempts are being made all over the country to establish History Clubs in the high schools. Such a club was organized in Lane High School this year. This club has no connection with studies in the school, but it is merely an extra curricular activity.

The purpose of the club is simply to bring in information or current events, outside of the regular history book, and to recite or explain these facts to the club. The club in Lane High School is under the capable direction of Mr. Speidel.

Not Evening, But Dawn

We open our eyes, and look all around us,
The misty night shadows are gone,
With a start we see that before our awakening
The world has changed from evening to dawn.

While we slumbered and slept, and dreamt of air castles
The world changed to rosy-hued morn,
And we are refreshed, for we needed to help us
The glory and strength of dawn.

'Tis with joy that we wake to the dawn of a new day,
To our tasks, and to ideas unborn,
And our hearts are made light with the sweetness of life
That comes with, "Not evening, but dawn."

We are starting our life in a strange and new world,
'Tis the very beginning, the morn,
May the burdens of others be light by our love,
'Tis the very beginning, the morn,

The Tell-tale Ring

MONSIEUR Anatole Blanc pushed back his chair and rose with a contented sigh. Madelon's breakfast had been even better than usual, and that was saying a great deal as she was a jewel among cooks. M. Anatole had brought her with him from France many years ago when he came to the New World to take possession of a comfortable legacy left him by a distant relative. The only survivor of a large family and with no ties to hold him in France, he decided to burn his bridges behind him and take up his new life in America. Selling his small possessions he set forth for his new home filled with curiosity and excitement. He brought with him two cherished treasures: Madelon, who for years had ruled his mother's kitchen, and a ring that had been in the family for generations. This ring was always considered the most valuable possession of M. Anatole's family and was given to the eldest son the day he reached his majority. It was a broad band of pale gold ending in two tiny hands clasping a shield on which was carved the crest of the Blancs. The years had worn it thin, so that the crest was almost obliterated, but the minute fingers, the exquisitely carved hands were still clear cut and perfect in every detail.

M. Anatole quickly adjusted himself to the bewildering novelties of life in a strange land and after a few months was comfortably installed in his small house in an unfashionable but genteel quarter of Chicago. Here he led an uneventful, peaceful existence, presided over by Madelon whose fame as a cook soon spread, and lucky was the neighbor who received an invitation to dine with M. Anatole. His natural gaiety and warm hospitality won him many friends, and closest among these was Mr. Payne, head of the large packing house of Payne & Co. M. Anatole never wearied of the marvels of this place. Accompanied by Mr. Payne he would spend hours going over the plant, taking in every detail, from the stock yards which surrounded it to the shining machinery inside. Such efficiency, such system, and above all such cleanliness! Mr. Payne proudly exhibited the well fed, registered livestock; the immaculate packers dressed in spotless white; the glittering implements they used; the huge sterilizers, and the whole equipment that went to make the products of Payne Packing Plant "a hundred per cent pure."

The morning on which our story opens, M. Blanc, having breakfasted and smoked his usual morning cigar, left his house at peace with the world and set out for his daily constitutional. Dreaming of the old days in France he was oblivious of his surroundings and crossed the street unconscious of the warning honk of an approaching automobile. He looked up to see the car bearing down on him at full speed, and was whirled into space, one outstretched arm flung across the street car track. There was a noise of grinding brakes, a sensation of horrible pain, and M. Anatole knew no more. When he regained consciousness he was in a hospital, and opened his eyes to see Mr. Payne seated by his bedside. Mr. Payne told his friend that he must be prepared for a shock, and informed him that the passing street car had so crushed M. Anatole's hand that two of his fingers had to be amputated. Mr. Blanc gazed at his bandaged hand in horror, and his first thought was for his cherished ring. Mr. Payne assured him that all personal belongings were carefully taken care of in hospitals and summoned the nurse. She professed entire ignorance of the ring, and after careful inquiry it was learned that no trace of it could be found.

M. Anatole left the hospital a week later, a desolate, heart-broken man. He brooded incessantly over his loss and could not be comforted. Mr. Payne was tireless in his efforts to cheer his old friend, and coming to call one evening, brought a small package. This, he explained, was a new brand of potted ham just put out by the Payne Packing Plant, and knowing his friend's fondness for good food, he had brought him a tin. M. Anatole thanked his friend, and later that night feeling hungry, he told Madelon to make him some sandwiches with the new potted ham. In a few moments she brought in a plate heaped with dainty slices of bread, the delicate pink of the ham showing between. M. Anatole ate one with relish, visions of a spotless plant floating through his mind. Biting into a second sandwich a sharp substance struck his tooth. Muttering: "Madelon grows careless," he pulled from his mouth a fragment of gold, and gazed with horror at the tiny hand of the Blanc ring, still perfect in every detail.

Greetings to the Next Editor

When your printer is howling for copy,
And your Board are all down with flu,
The photographer cries, "Sun or no pictures,"
And the rain simply won't take the cue.

When nobody's paid her subscription,
And the printer wants cash in advance,
When your contract reads "Forty-six hundred,"
And your Business Board says "Not a chance."

When the seniors find Grinds are a nuisance
And decide not to write any more,—
Our advice is,—pray don't be down-hearted,
Just remember it's happened before.

So demand all your copy by August,
And all of your pictures by fall,
And if you don't get them till April,—
Why, be thankful you got them at all.

What Did Franklin Find?

Franklin's experiment with a kite, a door key and a bolt of lightning is fresh in the mind of every member of this year's graduating class. Franklin found that lightning and electricity were the same, but it remained for others to make practical use of this force.

Morse succeeded in making and breaking the current at will and by the use of suitable instruments created the telegraph.

Edison invented the carbon filament incandescent lamp so that electricity began the task of lighting our streets, places of business and homes.

Improvements have followed rapidly until to-day the gas-filled, tungsten filament lamp produces approximately three times as much per kilowatt hour of energy required as did the lamp invented by Mr. Edison.

Electricity has been further domesticated until today it will not only light your home but will operate a fan for you in hot weather or heat your house in cold weather. In addition to this it will run your sewing machine, wash your clothes, and last but not least, refrigerate your food or cook your meals.

So important has electricity become in our modern civilization that large Public Service Corporations make it their specialty to see that their patrons have at all times an abundant supply of electrical energy at their command by merely pushing a button or turning a switch.

Franklin, indeed, did a great service in flying his kite. We hope that members of this year's graduating class will be able to accomplish even greater things.

As the Seniors of 1929 have worked faithfully to reach the one hundred per cent mark in their grades, so also have we tried to give the highest possible type of service.
